Elizabeth Trimber
Department of Psychology
Stony Brook University
Stony Brook, NY 11794-2500
elizabethtrimber@gmail.com

(Updated 8/8/11)

Education and Employment:

2010– present	Cognitive Psychology Ph.D., Stony Brook
	Advisor: Christian Luhmann
2006 – 2010	Cognitive Science B.S., SUNY Oswego
	Advisors: Jack Gelfand, David Vampola

Awards:

Scholarly and Creative Activity Grant, Computational Wisdom, 2009-2010
Distinguished Cognitive Science Senior Award, 2010
Outstanding First Year History Student Award 2007

Presentations:

Trimber, E. M. (2011, May), Implicit Prediction of Wins and Losses, Cognitive Psychology Brown Bag, Stony Brook University.

Trimber, E. M. (2009, April), Taxonomies of Wisdom: A Computational Approach to a Perennial Problem, Quest Research Symposium, SUNY Oswego, Oswego, New York.

Vampola, D. V. & Trimber, E. M. (2010, July), Computational Sapience, International Conference on New Directions in the Humanities, University of California, Los Angeles, California.

Teaching Experience:

Teaching Assistant, "Cognition", John Schwoebel, Spring 2010.
Teaching Assistant, "Psychology of Women", Susan Darlow, Fall 2010.
Teaching Assistant, "Sensation and Perception", Greg Zelinsky, Spring 2011.

Honors:
National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship, Honorable Mention, 2011
Nomination for SUNY Chancellor's Award for Student Excellence, 2009
Phi Kappa Phi, 2009
SUNY Oswego Presidential Scholar, Full Tuition
Honors College

Referees by request